

City of Cockburn Family Day Care Services Transcript

There's something natural about home.

Home is the book corner,

The favourite toy,

The secret hiding spot,

A home is where children are happy.

With Family Day Care, home is where they stay, where as part of a small group of friends, they get the attention they deserve in a space that's safe, warm, and familiar.

Where they feel the passion, love and care of a qualified Early Learning professional in a natural home environment and get the time to explore, have their questions answered and build deep connections.

At home they're free to be themselves but most importantly, at home, they're happy.

They belong and what could matter more than that? Because there's something natural about home.

With over 12,000 Family Day Care Educators across Australia and government subsidies available, you can choose quality early childhood education and care in a place that feels just like home.
